Measures Taken to Prevent the Stock Market From Too Big a Slump in One Day.

EXCHANGE FED ON RUMORS

COPPER.

New York, Oct. 15 .- The greater power of resistance of the stock market to unfavorable factors was demonstrated by Its action today in face of several incidents. The most conspicuous was the greatly exaggerated version of the incident in San Francisco which gained currency on the floor of the stock exchange, the story there detailed dealing with a supposed general riot and the death and maiming of a large number of Japanese subjects. The market sold off on the circulation of this rumor, but rebounded existence of the protective measures in the market which made themselves felt yesterday. The protective buying was de-termined and effective when prices were inclined to yield, but it practically dis-appeared when it had accomplished its purpose of arresting the declines. Stocks bought in this way are expected usually to come back upon the market at the first favorable opportunity, as the purpose of the buying abriculty is not accumulated. of the buying obviously is not accumulation. This ulterior prospect served to discourage operations on the long side, although the aggressive professional op-erations on the short side were effectual-

A bad effect was caused by reports of the discovery by a government agent of further rebating practices by the Southern Pacific, by a further fall in copper, and by persistent reports from copper, and by persistent reports from London that some embarrassment was imminent in New York. Some share of responsibility for the circulation of unfounded rumors was laid at the door of the bear party which still remains uncovered on the short side to a large extent. A decline in foreign exchange rates, with the lessened selling of stocks for foreign account was regarded with for foreign account, was regarded with satisfaction. Bonds were weak, some of Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—An unexpected decrease in the American visible supply of wheat had a strengthening effect todday on the local market. At the close the December delivery was up ½c. Corn was were 5 to 2½c lower.

The wheat market was erratic, but the general tendency was toward higher prices. The immediate opening was easy because of a decline in Liverpool, but the market soon rallied because of a decrease of 1,577,000 bushels in the available stocks of wheat in this country. The market developed additional strength because of a firm close at Liverpool. This upturn was followed by a slump of about 1½c because of an increase of 3,500,000 bushels in the European visible supply, compared with an increase of about 1,500,000 bushels for the corresponding time land of the corresponding time land of the corresponding time land of the corresponding time land.

1 last year. A slack demand for cash wheat also weakened the market. Covering by shores caused a rally late in the day and the market closed firm. December wheat opened 1/4c lower at 1/8c higher at 1.05½ to 1.05%, sold between 1.05½ and 1.06% and closed at 1.05%.

The corn market was firm all day. The to 64c and closed at 63½c. Local receipts close was firm. December opened 1/4c lower to 1/8c higher at 63 to 63%, advanced were 494 cars, with ninety-eight of con-

"THE REASONS"

Of all collectors of honest debts the Merchants' Protective Association leads both at home and abroad, for the very simple and convincing reasons that they have discovered that "red streaks of honesty" exist in everybody, and that they have the essential knack of making the debtor feel that "now is the time to pay." All in all, it is the stick-to-itiveness of this association that has gained for it its world-wide reputation and present condition. Yours respectfully,
